

Process Map

Using a top-down approach, the documented information process map describes how the process is structured into a hierarchy of activities that show the sequence of steps, as well as the responsibilities for each step or task:

